

Personnel At Bikini Ready To Evacuate For Bomb Test

Aboard U. S. S. Appalachian At Bikini, June 29 (AP)—All hands concerned with "Operation Crossroads" made ready today to evacuate Bikini lagoon, leaving only a ghost fleet of 50 old warships as guinea pigs for the world's fourth atomic bomb explosion.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the atomic task force, is expected to announce tomorrow morning (6 p. m. today—Saturday—EST) whether the bomb will be dropped as scheduled about 9:30 a. m. Monday, Bikini time. That is, 5:30 p. m. (EST) Sunday.

Blandy told foreign and scientific observers today that "we can have the test any day when the sky is not more than half covered with clouds." He expressed confidence that conditions would be favorable either on Monday or "within the succeeding three or four days."

He said there was a "50-50 chance" the atomic bomb would be dropped Monday as originally planned.

Everything is ready. If the decision is affirmative more than 30,000 military personnel, scientists, correspondents and observers will start for areas of safety, leaving only skeleton crews in the lagoon and on the islands of the atoll to make last-minute adjustments on instruments, cameras and recording equipment.

The old ships which will remain overnight in the lagoon are Admiral Blandy's flagship, the Mt. McKinley, and the Kenneth Whiting an instrument ship which will be making a late check of its technical equipment. A few small boats will be left to evacuate personnel.

At midnight there will be only 246 men left on the target ships making final adjustments to instruments which will record the heat and light of the blast and radio-activity created by the mighty explosion. And on the islands there will be 46 men setting recording equipment.

But every non-target ship and every man must be out of the lagoon two hours before the bomb is to be detonated.

All that will be left in Bikini lagoon will be the silent target ships on which there will be no human being. They will be anchored around the bull's eye, the old battleship Nevada—in a deserted array as guinea pigs of the test of atomic power against ships.

Admiral Blandy's decision will depend on the weather. Today dawned clear. If meteorological reports show prospects favorable for Monday, Blandy will give the signal for which everyone is waiting. And the final, dramatic act of this first test will begin.

Much of the success of the operation depends on Maj. Harold H. Wood of Bordentown, N. J., one of the army's finest bombardiers. He will drop the bomb over the Nevada from a B-29 Superfortress—"Dave's Dream"—flying at about 30,000 feet. Wood is confident of a direct hit.

FIRE COMPANY CARNIVAL IS BIG SUCCESS

Hundreds of Gettysburg youngsters thrilled Friday night to riding in a "real live fire engine" at the annual festival held by the local fire company at the engine house, as the firemen took the youngsters on trips over town.

Besides the youngsters, hundreds of adults jammed the engine house for the annual drawing held in connection with the festival.

Members of the committee said today that no report could be made on the collections and donations so far, with the amount not counted Friday night due to the fact that additional contributions are expected from solicitors in various sections of the town who have been asked to return for donations today or early next week.

It is believed however that the sum realized from the affair will be somewhat less than the $2,500 of last year unless those planning donations within the next few days make sufficiently large enough contributions to push the total figure over the top.

Everything is ready. Average Home Becomes High Priced Job Under OPA Act

Washington, June 29 (AP)—Cost of the average newly built home will jump 10 to 25 per cent if the OPA extension bill becomes law, Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt reported today.

Dejected at the potential rise in prices of building materials embodied in the measure sent to President Truman last night, Wyatt said in an interview:

"This would mean that the new 'low cost' house is a $10,000 house. That's a little exaggerated but not much."

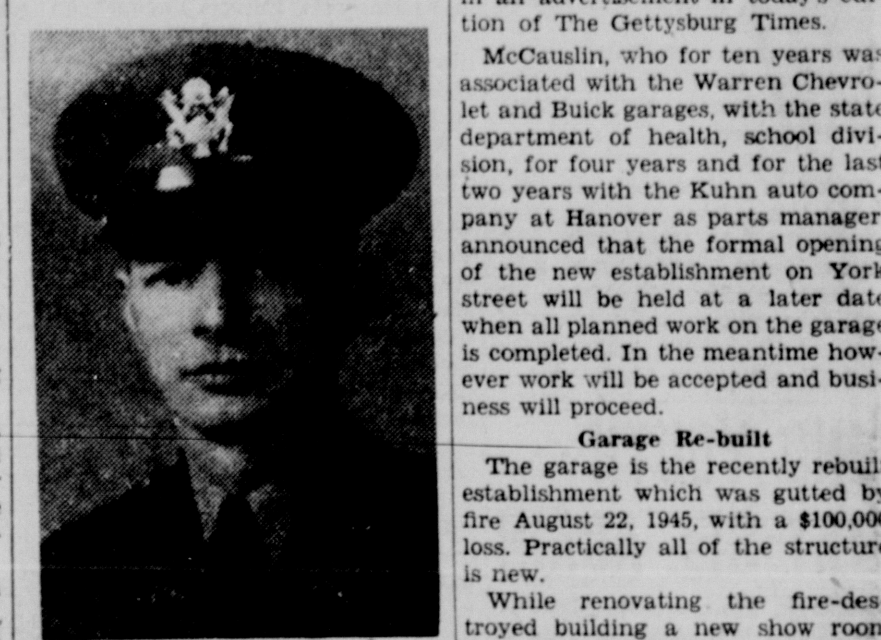

"We had plans set to push down new-dwelling costs. Now we can't even hold our present price position—and it is bad enough."

Army Selects 3 Local Officers

Two Gettysburg men and a third officer now on duty at the college were recommended for commissions in the regular army by President Truman Friday.

Major John C. Hollinger, acting Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the college and Captain William O. Denham, assistant PMST, were recommended for permanent commissions. Captain Denham's new grade, when officially notified by the war department, will be first lieutenant. Major Hollinger's permanent grade is not known. He is out of the city today and was not available for information.

J. Richard Hershey, who was discharged from service and is employed in the National Park Service here, was also recommended for a permanent commission with the rank of captain. He was a Lieutenant Colonel during the war.

USES PROGRAM OF COUNSELING IS INAUGURATED

The Employment Counseling program of the United States Employment Service, which aims at the proper placement of veterans and other workers, will benefit from the job development campaign now being intensified here, E. A. Crouse, manager of the Gettysburg USES office, 20 Baltimore street, said today.

The Counseling program, supplementing regular placement services of the USES, insures more effective matching of jobs and men, Mr. Crouse declared. It is a process whereby present and potential qualifications of the applicant are related to prevailing occupational requirements and conditions, to assist the applicant in making a suitable choice of work.

"Employment counseling is distinguished from placement activity in that its purpose is to assist an applicant in choosing or adjusting to a vocation, rather than to select an applicant for a specific job opening," the local office manager explained. "However, counseling activity dovetails with our current Job Development campaign, since a veteran or other worker who makes an occupational choice after being counseled, has a better chance of finding employment in his chosen field if employers list a greater number and variety of job openings with the local USES office."

Six Categories

Analysis of applicants desiring employment counseling discloses that they fall into the following broad categories, Mr. Crouse said:

Returning veterans who have had no previous work experience and skills in service which may make it desirable for them to enter new fields of employment; those whose old lines of activity have been closed by changes in industry or who desire to enter new fields of work or to work in other areas; and those who have acquired disabilities pre-

SPEAKER SAYS PRESS IS BEST PUBLIC CONTACT

The best way to secure good public relations for the Agriculture Adjustment Agency program is to know perfectly what that program is, see that the committeemen know what the program is and let the newspapers and radio know what the program comprises, Dr. D. U. Livermore, assistant to the regional director of the PMA Friday afternoon told secretaries of the AAA from 61 counties in the state attending a two day conference here.

He urged that "public relations" also be considered as "telling your friends about the program and holding meetings on the farm. Where you have a good farm on which the program is actually working hold twilight meetings there so that farmers can see for themselves what is being done. Such public relations are worth millions of words and pamphlets," he added.

Use of radio programs similar to the ones outlined at the sessions Friday morning and afternoon were recommended by Doctor Livermore as good public relations.

"Let Newspapers Know"

Best public relations of all can be employed through the local newspapers, he asserted. "When a new program is planned, let the newspapers know about it. Visit the papers and learn to know the newspapermen," he added.

He displayed a number of cooperative advertisements outlining various parts of the AAA program which through cooperation of local merchants have been printed in a number of newspapers so far. Mats and material for the full-page ads have been made available to the local county offices, Livermore said. He urged that the secretaries call on advertising managers of the papers with the prepared copy and secure the cooperation of the advertising manager in selling the ads. "The cooperative ads help the newspaper, the cooperating merchants and the AAA program," Livermore said.

Programs Recorded

In the closing sessions Friday afternoon the various secretaries were given portions of proposed radio programs and went in groups to read their parts into a recording machine. After the record was made it was played back to the assembly.

Members of the small groups making the records were given the recordings.

G. H. Roth, a member of the editorial staff of The Gettysburg Times spoke briefly on "What Makes News From the AAA Offices."

Adams Electric Co-operative, Inc., begun five years ago as an experiment in co-operative ownership of a utility, presented a healthy financial statement to the Federal government recently.

No interest payments are in default and the co-operative is ahead on re-payment of principal.

C. A. Clunk, manager, said the Co-op now has 3,400 users and covers York, Adams and Cumberland counties and part of Franklin county with 1,100 miles of lines.

Member—Owners

Each user is a member and part owner of the company, Clunk explained, and has a vote in the election of directors once a year. Rates vary, but are comparable to those of commercial utilities operating in the same area, he stated.

The Co-op received a total of $1,274,025.63 from the Rural Electrification Administration and paid into the Government $66,757.22 as of March 1946.

Of the total amount paid to the government by the Co-operative, $2,566.61 represents principal, of which $298.61 is advance pay on a total construction allotment of $1,271,757.63.

Repayment "Significant"

REA officials state that the great number of borrowers who are repaying loans faster than the contract requires is significant of the healthy condition of efforts to electrify rural areas throughout the country. Most borrowers, REA stated, are either up-to-date or paid in advance.

REA's contract with Adams Co-operative calls for total allocation of $1,470,000 in loans for construction and $10,000 for installation. REA advanced $2,268 for installation, all of which has been repaid.

The Co-op has made interest payments totaling $64,190.61, of which $64,103.59 has been applied to the construction loan. No interest payments are in default.

BULLETIN

Washington, June 29 (AP)—President Truman today vetoed the controversial OPA bill.

He took the action which Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles had urged in resigning in protest at the bill—an action which Democratic leaders in Congress said would mean the death of all price controls tomorrow midnight.

In a strongly worded message to the House, the chief executive said the extension bill presented to him by Congress offered no choice between continued price stability and inflation.

GARDENS HURT BY HAILSTORM AT LITTLESTOWN

Littlestown was in the path of the wind and hail storm yesterday afternoon. A heavy downfall of large-sized hailstones fell for about half an hour, and severely damaged gardens and trees in the town. There was also a severe electrical storm, with terrific crashes of thunder. Several women are reported to have fainted at local factories. Many small children at the playground were caught by the sudden storm, and scattered in all directions, many yelling with fright at the electrical disturbance.

Allen M. Lester gave the bride in marriage. The bride wore a gown of white with a lace bodice and net skirt. Her fingertip length veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried two gardenias on a white Bible.

Miss Rosanna G. Woolger, of Washington, was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. William J. Weber, Jr., and Mrs. Mrs. John Gilmore, of Washington, Miss Beatrice J. Lund of Chicago and Miss Helen R. Lawson of Baltimore. All wore white marquisette and large white hats and carried bouquets of roses.

Warner Hospital Directors Plan Expansion Program To Serve Increasing Demands

The Annie M. Warner hospital, "which has never called upon Adams countians to provide operating funds as nearly all hospitals must do each year, has no choice but to immediately undertake an expansion program in order to meet hospitalization requirements of Adams countians and to conduct a campaign in the county to raise the money to finance the program that is so undeniably necessary."

This was the conclusion of the board of directors of the hospital at a meeting Friday night, at the Nurses' home, devoted almost entirely to analysis of the present hospital situation. Occupancy at the local institution is 25 per cent over capacity with patients being housed in corridors. There are many people in need of surgery and other hospital service who are now waiting for accommodations in the hospital, it was announced.

Crowded Beyond Capacity

The Musselman Memorial annex, which will be completed this fall, will relieve the situation considerably but, directors said, "it will do little more than take care of the present surplus so great is the demand for hospitalization. The Musselman building will provide facilities that are the last word in maternity service but the demand that exists for hospital space leaves no areas available for a contagious disease ward, one of the most necessary requirements of the hospital; a children's ward; a larger kitchen; a record room; adequate reception and office space, and finally, room for the deep X-ray therapy department."

When the Musselman Memorial annex was first contemplated, it was considered that only modest remodeling of the present building would be required, only that required to connect the two buildings into an efficiently-working single unit.

The demands on the hospital facilities in the past year have exceeded by far all expectations and for months the hospital has been filled to capacity and on many occasions patients have greatly exceeded the normal operating facilities.

Many On Waiting List

"The situation has been so desperate that many cases requiring surgical and other forms of treatment have had to be postponed and the prospective patients, depending on the urgency of their condition, put on a waiting list for admittance when space is available for them," the directors said.

The need for a segregated contagious disease ward has manifested itself several times in recent months as has the need for a children's ward.

Directors explained that the need for hospital facilities will not diminish with a turn in economic conditions. "Even though there is a depression the need for hospital facilities for Adams countians will consistently increase. The 25-year records of the hospital and of all other hospitals indicate this as a certainty," they said.

The deep X-ray therapy department is a "must," the directors stated. "Countless lives can be prolonged and saved by deep therapy treatment of malignant diseases and the necessity of adding this department to the hospital is pronounced. The equipment has already been ordered, at a cost of $10,000 donated to the hospital by the Gettysburg Lodge of Elks, but $50,000 is needed to erect a building to house this new department," they announced.

Expensive Program

Several plans were discussed by the directors at their meeting Friday night. One involves extensive remodeling of the present hospital building, including extension of outside walls to enlarge some of the rooms so as to make them available as semi-private rooms to take care of two patients instead of one. "However, the overall capacity will be increased by only five or six patients which is somewhat out of proportion to the $150,000 that it is estimated such a remodeling program would cost," the directors explained.

Adding this to the $50,000 required for the X-ray building means an expenditure of $200,000. "While this would considerably add to the facilities and services of the hospital, it is not certain that it will meet patient requirements sufficiently far into the future to warrant the expenditure," it was said.

Another proposal calls for construction of a new building that will increase the number of patient rooms and also house the X-ray department.

Up To Committee

The present building would then be remodeled to provide all clinic, surgery, service and administrative spaces required for the enlarged institution. This would cost more than the other proposal but would have the further advantage of taking care of the needs of the community for the next ten to twenty years, it was announced.

The directors placed the matter of expansion and financing in the hands of the executive committee with instructions that a detailed study of all factors involved be made as quickly as possible and that a recommendation be made to the board at its next meeting.

President C. A. Bixler made the following statement:—"Frankly, our hospital is up against it. It is operating at capacity and over capacity. The present and future needs of the county are such that we must expand even with the addition of the Musselman Memorial building."

He was succeeded as superintendent by Henry H. Garland, 36, who has been with the Post-Gazette 21 years.

MOUNT DEAN HAS RESIGNED

Rev. John F. Cogan, Jr., long-time faculty member and executive, has tendered his resignation as Dean of Mount St. Mary's college, it was announced Thursday night. The resignation becomes effective on July 24, at the close of the present semester.

Father Cogan will be succeeded by Rev. Francis P. McNelis, who is now acting as Prefect of Studies. Actively identified with the Mount for approximately thirty years, Father Cogan has held every administrative post at the institution with the exception of the presidency. His resignation is the result of desire for a well-earned rest, college officials announced, adding that he will remain with the college as a member of the faculty and advisor to Father McNelis.

During his long career at the Mount, Father Cogan also took an active part in direction of football, baseball and basketball teams, figuring largely in all athletic activities.

Father McNelis has also been identified with the Mount for some time, having served as Prefect of Discipline and Latin instructor since his ordination in 1932. During the war, Father McNelis was a chaplain, serving with the U. S. Navy in the Pacific for three years. He just recently returned to the Mount.

Hope for Veto

Another possibility was that Bowles hoped his resignation on the eve of Mr. Truman's decision, together with his parting castigation of the bill, might serve to persuade the president to veto it. His friends say Bowles has no knowledge of what action Mr. Truman will take on the bill.

What Bowles will do when he leaves office July 10, not even he knows for sure at this time, persons

BLIND YOUTH MAY SEE AGAIN

Pittsburg, June 29 (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Jack Wisnowski, who spent three years in total blindness, may recover his full vision if an operation to be performed July 10 in New York is successful.

Four years ago, Jack was stricken by a "conical cornea and hydrops"—the latter a watery condition of the eye—and lost his eyesight.

A year ago he went to the eye institute of New York's Columbia Presbyterian hospital and underwent an operation at the skilled hands of Dr. Ramon Castrovieko, eye specialist.

Operation Is Gamble

The operation, admittedly a gamble, consisted of transplanting a cornea from an "eye bank" to the softened cornea of Jack's right eye. The boy regained 90 percent of the eye's vision.

The operation to be performed July 10, will be practically a duplicate of the first, except that a borrowed cornea will be transplanted to the left eye.

Jack believes firmly the operation will be a success and he is extremely happy about it.

"The first thing I wanted to see when I regained the sight of my right eye was my mother's face," he said. "Now maybe I can see the whole world."

NOTICE IS MAILED

A charge of driving through a stop sign was placed against Guy Conover, Gettysburg R. 1, before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Friday night by borough police. A ten day notice was sent today.

FARM IS SOLD

Miss Amelia Wolf, Aberdeen, Washington state, has sold her 97-acre farm located in Cumberland township on the Gettysburg-Table Rock road, together with equipment and crops, to James Poland of Gettysburg. Possession will be given immediately. The sale was made by C. A. Heiges.

LICENSED TO WED

Marriage licenses have been granted the following in Westminster: Walter L. Johnson and Louise J. Baker, Gettysburg; Richard D. Fisel and Janet M. Shindlacker, Gettysburg; Sherman K. Eisenhart and Anna E. Staub, East Berlin; Francis W. Hertz and Pauline M. Martin, New Oxford.

FINED FOR SPEEDING

Dorothy Tudor, Miami, Fla., paid a fine and costs on a speeding charge brought before Justice of the Peace Walter Wolf, York Springs, by state police.

He is being urged to run this year either for governor or United States senator in his home state of Connecticut. As of last night he reportedly had not made up his mind on this.

Continue Medical Care For Miners

Washington, June 29 (AP)—The Coal Mines Administration acted today to insure "complete medical and field aid treatment" of miners in the bituminous coal fields.

Admiral Ben Morell, chief of the CMA, directed field personnel "to make sure there is no break-down in these facilities."

He ordered that medical, hospital and related services for miners be continued at top-flight operations during the time that the United Mine Workers are working out a plan for administering the new medical and hospital fund provided for in the Krug-Lewis agreement settling the soft coal strike.

The UMW, Admiral Morell said, already had appointed trustees to put into effect a general hospital fund.

"But," he commented in a statement, "it is a large undertaking and cannot be placed in full effect without careful study and planning. These studies and plans are now taking shape. While they are in the formative stage the Coal Administrator is insistent that the miners have the benefit of all advantages that came to them in the past."

Soft Coal Miners Get Vacation Pay

Pittsburg, June 29 (AP)—The 56,000 soft coal miners of western Pennsylvania will have $4,000,000 extra pay jingling in their pockets tonight. It's their vacation bonus.

This is in addition to the regular bi-weekly payroll of more than $5,000,000 being distributed at most mines today.

Each miner who was on the payroll May 22 and who had worked steadily for the previous year receives a $100 bonus; those who worked shorter periods receive smaller amounts.

BRITISH SEIZE JEWISH AGENCY IN JERUSALEM

Jerusalem, June 29 (AP)—The British announced today that British troops occupied the Jewish agency's building in Jerusalem early today and "numbers of persons are being detained."

The communique said: "The operations are proceeding. Details will be published as soon as possible. A most important statement by his excellency, the high commissioner, to the people of Palestine is being broadcast shortly."

The statement, issued simultaneously in Palestine and London, said that a curfew had been imposed over wide areas of Jerusalem.

Earlier, unofficial reports said that all members of the Jewish agency had been arrested in the raid, which followed a brief lull in violent activity by Jewish underground forces, including the kidnapping of six British officers, three of whom still are missing and believed to be hostages of Irgun Zvai Leumi, one of the underground organizations.

Persons arrested by troops and police in sweeping searches through the city were not identified at once.

It was reported reliably that the curfew, clamped on various suburbs and other residential districts of the city, was directed against members of the Jewish community.

The Jewish agency, made up of 10 members, is recognized by the British as representative of Jews in Palestine.

During today's search, in which first report said no arms or explosives were seized, low-flying army planes hovered overhead.

The Barbers put on a strong batting attack in the nightcap to win easily 12-0.

First-place Wilmington had no trouble defeating Lancaster 14 to 3 last night, the win marking the ninth consecutive victory the Blue Rocks have chalked up against Lancaster this year.

Meanwhile, Sunbury kept its battle to retain second place by defeating Allentown 7 to 5.

In other games Harrisburg edged Hagerstown 4 to 3 and York defeated Trenton 15 to 0 for its first shutout win of the season. George Carbons allowed Trenton only two hits and fanned 11.

Tonight's schedule:

TERMS RUMOR OF TEAM SALE AS RIDICULOUS

Pittsburgh, June 29 (AP)—President William Benswanger declared today that a proposal to move the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team to Hollywood was not only "ridiculous" but was unfair "to the fans of Pittsburgh."

Al Mathes, Hollywood sportsman and cafe owner, who said he represents a syndicate of movie executives, announced he had asked Benswanger to set a price on the club, giving the syndicate an option to buy everything except Forbes Field.

The ultimate plan, Mathes said, would be to move the franchise from Pittsburgh to Hollywood though the syndicate planned to finish the 1946 season here, and possibly remain in Pittsburgh another year or two before moving.

No Consideration
Benswanger said that "such a proposal would be given no consideration."

"Such a plan would not be fair to the fans of Pittsburgh," Benswanger went on. "Even if we were inclined to consider such a proposal which we are not, it would not be a matter for the Pittsburgh club to decide alone. Any change in the league structure is subject to approval by the entire league."

"I haven't received the wire from Mr. Mathes, but if he is quoted correctly, it is one of the most ridiculous things I have ever heard."

New York, June 29 (AP)—The folks along cauliflower acreage were talking more about Allie Stolz's gameness than his knockout defeat by Bob Montgomery today, as negotiations began to match Bobcat Bob with Ike Williams in champion-ship pretzel.

As a matter of fact, they're talking for quite a spell to come of frail Allie and the "moxie" he showed in coming off the floor five times to keep on punching in last night's lightweight championship fight. For that was the big thing about this latest Madison Square beak-busting—that the body-belted Bobcat Bob dished out for a dozen rounds before putting on the crusher with a large right hand at 2:54 of the 13th.

Half Of The Title
The victory for Montgomery marked the unveiling of his half of the 135-pound crown for the first time since he went into the army with it two years ago, and he showed that while he may be a bit rusty, he's a whole lot better than he was a green hand, particularly since he had to get down under the weight limit for the first time. His half of the bauble is the part that is recognized in New York and Pennsylvania and is not to be confused with that portion that has the National Boxing Association's blessing and is owned by Williams.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

Albany held Wilkes-Barre scoreless through two games last night and mounted thus to second place in the Eastern league, as Hartford lost narrowly to Scranton.

It was a big night for shutouts. Williamsport's Norman Scott blanked Ulica for the second time this season, and the Greys collected four runs, to edge out of the cellar into a tie with seventh-place Binghamton.

Albany scored five times in the seven-inning opener and three in the second contest.

Scranton won 7-6 over Hartford, carrying off a series shortened to two games. Elmira snowed Binghamton, 5-1 and 14-2.

School Board Will Pay Bonus

Philadelphia, June 28 (AP)—Approximately 10,000 full-time employees of the Philadelphia Board of Education will get a $40 cost-of-living bonus in September, the board announced.

The money was obtained from delinquent tax collections which exceeded budget estimates by $400,000, Add B. Anderson, secretary and business manager of the board said.

M'SHERRYSTOWN LOSES GAME BY LEAGUE ACTION

(By The Associated Press)

At a special meeting of the Pennsylvania Baseball league officials Thursday evening at Middleburg, Md., President Ralph Coe ordered a game won by McSherrystown from Littlestown, forfeited to the latter team. The ruling was the outgrowth of a protest over the use of catcher Wagner, of McSherrystown, who is alleged to have played Class D professional ball previously.

President Coe also announced that action will be taken at a later meeting in forfeiting all games in which Wagner has participated while forfeits will also result in any future games the involved player takes part in.

All-Star Game

Arrangements were made for an All-Star game to be played at Middleburg on July 4 at 3 p. m. DST.

Adam Beam, Blue Ridge Summit, was named as manager of the Pennsylvania All-Star's outfit, which will be composed of players from Hanover, Littlestown, McSherrystown and Blue Ridge Summit. Fern Hitchcock, Taneytown, was named to pilot the Maryland All-Stars, and will manage a team picked from the rosters of Emmitsburg, Thurmont, Middleburg, Wakefield, Harney and Taneytown. Proceeds of the game will be given to the team treasurers.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Princeton, N. J., June 29 (AP)—Princeton's athletic program will be better and look worse during the college's 200th anniversary year.

As Howie Stepp, assistant athletic director, sees it, the Tigers are on the upgrade, but they won't improve as fast as a lot of other schools. "If we would go out and get them, things would be different," explains Howie, "but we won't and can't."

Maybe it would be better to say we can't and won't. Harry Kinneil, Princeton golf pro, has worked at his profession in Scotland, East Africa and America. He served his apprenticeship at Prestwick, had his first job at Nairobi, in the heart of Africa's big game country, and came to Princeton this spring.

The big difference, he explains, is that at Nairobi they have sand tees and greens and you're liable to find lions on the course instead of Tigers.

HANDY ANDY

Oklahoma's Andy Anderson not only attracts the biggest gallery of the NCAA golf tournament here—as many as eight followers—because of his tremendous drives and his occasional explosive comments, but also has attracted the most colorful caddy. Carrying Andy's clubs is Toby, a huge negro who hasn't been seen much around the course since he used to caddy for Mel Dickinson, 1922 Princeton football captain, and Hack McGraw, who runs the alumni parades. Toby usually goes around barefooted, claiming the greenskeepers won't let him mark up their carefully tended turf with shoes.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Max Hirsch, Assault's trainer, reports that his high-priced horse stands 15 hands, 1½ inches high and weighs about 950 pounds. On Max's estimate, racing writers figured that Bold Venture's boy has won $350 per pound for the King ranch—or more than enough to buy that many pounds of steak.

Wonder if Georgia Tech will catch the lawsuit fever now afflicting sports and go after the pro giants for getting Tex Coulter to jump a contract? Lynne McNutt, former all-Kansas high school halfback who played two years at Northwestern, will enroll at Kansas U. next fall. What's more, his kid brother Jerry, who played football for Southern California, may join him.

Louisiana State's golfers attribute their improvement in the second round of the NCAA tourney to some specially brewed Louisiana coffee, which is considered just right when its thick enough to cut into chunks.

TED WILLIAMS OUT IN FRONT IN "BIG FOUR"

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Terrible Teddy Williams, generally acclaimed as one of the all-time hitting greats, appears well on his way today to become the first player ever to lead the American league in the "big four" hit department—batting, home runs, runs batted in and total bases—in two different years.

Not even Williams' immortal predecessors, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Fox, could accomplish the feat. Gehrig and Fox made the grand slam just once, while Ruth failed to do it at all. Columbia Lou finished on top in all departments in 1934, one year after Fox did it. Ruth just missed out in 1924, the only time he led the league in batting. Williams did it in 1942.

Leads Greenberg
The clouting kid from Boston struck his 20th home run yesterday to wrest the leadership from Detroit's Hank Greenberg as the league-leading Red Sox routed the Washington Senators 12-1. His two runs batted in also gave him the leadership in that department over teammates Bobby Doerr, 62 to 61. He easily tops all batsmen in totals bases with 167 and trails Washington's Mickey Vernon, the league's leading hitter, by one point, 356 to 357.

Charley Keller's 17th home run with one aboard broke up a tight 1-1 pitting duel between the Yanks' Floyd Bevens and the Athletics' Phil Marchiondo to give the Bronx Bombers a 4-1 victory.

Phillies Back Again
Brooklyn's three and a half game national league lead remained in status quo as the Dodgers whipped the Boston Braves 3-1 in the day-time while the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates at night 5-1.

The Philadelphia Phillies made it 19 victories in 26 games as they eked out a 7-5 decision over the New York Giants in a 10-inning affair under the lights, but could not move into fifth place as the Cincinnati Reds, occupying the top berth in the second division by a half game, defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3, also in a 10-inning contest.

Denny Galehouse scattered six hits as the St. Louis Browns shut out the Detroit Tigers 9-0.

The Cleveland Indians unloaded a five-run blast in the fifth inning to beat the Chicago White Sox 7-2.

KRAMER BEATEN IN TENNIS PLAY

By BILL MACKLIN
Wimbledon, June 29 (AP)—The aura of invincibility in which the United States tennis players had been clothed, and which had led experts to predict they would sweep the 1939 sweep of all five Wimbledon titles, has been badly dented.

That puncturing was attended to by Jaroslav Drobny, the Czech who, in a five-set battle of titans, yesterday eliminated Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, No. 2 in the seeded list. That left the dwindling American hopes for taking the men's single crown, prize plum of Wimbledon, up to lesser-known California youngsters.

Both of them were slated to compete today as a program of 50 matches completed the tournament's first week and brought the men's play down to the quarterfinals. Tom Brown, the 23-year-old former mortar gunner who put out Francisco (Pancho) Segura of Ecuador Thursday in an upset that did not quite come up to the surprise proportions of Kramer's defeat, was matched with Tony Mottram of Britain, while Budge Patty met the No. 1 seeded player, Australian Dinky Pails.

But if some of the bloom is off the American men, America's sensational women's team continues to amaze the British, in and out of competition.

ACTION OF U.S. INJURES CAUSE OF MIKOLAJZYK

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Wittingly or unwittingly — probably the latter — the United States has added to the hurdles which Vice Premier Mikolajczyk must clear in tomorrow's plebiscite if his Polish Peasant party is to escape the grave danger of dissolution.

Mikolajczyk's opponents, the "Moscow" group which controls the government, will hardly fail to make full capital of this week's reinstatement of a $50,000,000 loan which had been held up because of Polish censorship of America news dispatches, failure of Poland to publish collateral agreements insuring free political activities, and the withholding of the texts of Poland's economic agreements with other countries, including Russia.

To get this picture clearly, one must remember that Mikolajczyk is the only important Warsaw official who was one of the "London Poles" who supported and were supported by the Allies during the war.

Reds Pick Government
Russia broke with the "London Poles" during the war, and near its close installed in Poland a completely hand-picked government.

This new government began operating at Lublin before Warsaw was liberated. After the German surrender, Mikolajczyk was admitted to the circle only upon strong representations to Moscow by the United States and Britain that the Warsaw government was not representative of the Polish people.

Since then observers have been almost unanimous in their judgment that Mikolajczyk represents perhaps 70 per cent of the Poles.

He and his Polish Peasants party are distinctly the major assets of the western powers in Poland. He already has been consistently harassed by government raids on his party centers, some units of which have been dissolved, by political assassinations and arrests, and by the organization of a militia hastily trained to give the government a quarter million armed men at the polls tomorrow.

Loan Re-Instated
Then, on Wednesday, came reinstatement of the U. S. loan, an action which could only carry the implication in Poland that the United States is satisfied with the present government to which the Polish Peasant party represents the only real opposition aside from the National Armed Forces and other underground irregulars who have injured their own cause by banditry and violence.

It appears that the State Department acted in rather routine fashion on the loan after receiving assurances from Warsaw that its objections would be met, and without consideration of the political factor.

At any rate, a few hours after an inquiry on this score, the State Department announced that another loan of $40,000,000 planned by the export-import bank had been held up — although bank officials said they knew nothing of it — presumably until the Poles actually carry out their promises.

It looks like the pre-plebiscite $50,000,000 authorization was a slip which adds materially to the danger that the Polish Peasant party may not live to play a major role whenever national elections are held.

Bus Hits Building; 26 Persons Injured

New York, June 29 (AP)—At least 26 persons were reported injured early today when an interstate bus went out of control and crashed into a downtown building following a collision with a taxicab.

Twenty-five of those hurt were passengers in the bus. None including the taxi driver, was believed seriously injured.

Police quoted the bus driver, Charles Hoppel, of (4526 McKinley St.) Tacony, Pa., as saying the taxi was going in the wrong direction down a one-way street. He told of fleeing he sought to avoid a crash by swerving his vehicle, in-bound from Washington, but that the collision threw him out of his seat and the bus went out of control.

Today's Talk

OF THE LOVE OF BOOKS

Somerset Maugham says that first of all a book must entertain. That is true of a work of fiction. And, of course, if it is beautifully written, with passion and feeling, the characters accurately drawn, and made to live naturally before us, that book is sure to be enjoyed.

Thoreau comments in his journal as follows: "In books, that which is most interesting is what comes home to the most cherished experience of the greatest number. It is not the book of him who has traveled farthest over the surface of the globe, but of him who has lived the deepest and been the most at home."

Study the great books that have lived over the years and you will learn that the statements of these two fine writers are very correct. There is much of the writer himself, or herself, in every book produced. Great writers live forever in their books! Whenever I take up a book containing the talks of Lafcadio Hearn to his Japanese students at the University of Tokyo, I feel myself a student, listening in absorbed attention as did those students a half century ago.

Under the glass on my work desk is a clipping upon the ownership of books. I quote this line: "Books that strike deep chords of response demand personal ownership, with its sense of proprietorship in excellence." So that to own a book is to own a friend. I like to walk into my library and feel that all the available space upon my walls is lined with friends who greet me at every entrance. To own a book is to have at least one friend!

There is nothing more intimate than a book, too, for the author parades before you, inviting you into his world of thoughts, and sharing his experiences, his loves, his dreams, his imaginations, and his soul.

We enter homes, walk the streets, travel the world, talk with every sort of people, view matchless landscapes, and meet the humblest to the greatest, through books. They become the portal to the market places of the world. How can anyone actually live, without the love of books in his heart?

The law of compensation rules that if you don't check your brakes your brakes will check your motor-ing.

Tight In Their Grooves
Since a piston ring can be tight in two entirely different ways it is a good rule to remember that it is a cause twin troubles. Everyone who stops to think about it will realize that a ring that puts too much pressure on the cylinder wall will cause drag and overheating, but few realize that a ring can also be tight in its groove, preventing radial expansion of the ring when the engine heats up. This naturally results in preventing the ring from holding compression and checking oil pumping. This kind of thing can be so bad that it causes serious blow-by. In one case the engine actually seemed to be misfiring.

Water on the Plugs
Every now and again I receive the stock question as to how water can be kept out of the spark plug wells. Comes a heavy rain and the plugs start to go dead.

This is always due to failure of the hood or hood sides to keep out the rain, and is usually found on older cars. Checking this sometimes calls for quite a bit of headwork and manual skill, but one thing that will save a lot of experimentation is to use the garden hose to find out just how water gets into the forbidden spots. Try it first so as to give the effect of a normal rain, then as a driving rain. Be a bit suspicious of the hood sides, not to mention the point where the cowl joins the hood.

One motorist who made the test couldn't get any water into the engine compartment. That's how he tumbled to the fact that the water was coming from a leaky hot water heater hose connection.

Among some of the interesting "Why's" which I receive with regularity is the query as to why there is any advantage in depressing the clutch pedal when cranking. This simple act disconnects half the clutch and the transmission so that the starter-motor and battery have to turn over merely the engine, fly-wheel and driving member of the clutch. I am also asked why knee action is preferable to a conventional front axle. The answer is that independent springing permits one or the other of the front wheels to rise over a hump or fall into a hole without disturbing the other wheel and the car's level. But if both front wheels hit the same obstruction the reaction will be the same as with a conventional axle.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"The automobile world has harped so long on the subject of keeping hands off the carburetor it isn't any wonder that today we are faced with a situation where millions of carburetors are crying for the simplest of attention. There are a few rules which apply to any sort of carburetor job whether it be a bit of cleaning up or a complete rebuilding. "One is to remember that parts easily pick up dirt. Be careful where you put them down. It is well to use some cleanser on the carburetor's externals before taking anything off it, for when parts are clean you can more easily see what's needed. Among the things that are most likely to be wrong with a well-worked carburetor are a sticky float, a worn accelerator pump plunger, corroded jets, a leaky float gasket and general gumming of parts and orifices."

When Neglect Shows Up
Why it is that brakes will so often start to give trouble when the hot weather comes along is easily explained by the fact that wheel bearing grease is thinning out and running on the brake lining. At this point you have all the satisfaction of locking the barn doors after the horse has gone out for a run, but it will cost you a brake job. If the lining that has been ruined by grease isn't too old you often can get by simply by replacing it and not the lining of the unaffected brakes. Lining can't be de-greased. I've seen it burned off, soaked off and filed off, but the effects are usually temporary.

How To Prime It
On a long trip it is well to be fortified against having the oil pump go dry some morning when starting up the engine. A short length of rubber tubing of about 1/4 inch size is the main equipment needed for priming the pump. First disconnect the line to the oil pressure gauge and then disconnect the windshield wiper line to the intake manifold. By making a temporary connection between the oil line and the intake manifold, and by running the engine for a few moments, the vacuum created will draw oil up through the oil pump and the oil lines.

Proves Cleanliness Pays
Does it pay to keep tires clean? Many seem to think this is a

Low Speed Counts
Jerking action of a car may or may not be due to poor carburetion or faulty ignition, but invariably the main factor in its difficulty is low intake suction or vacuum. This, in turn, is due to loss of compression either as a result of poor seating valves or worn rings. While there will be an actual loss in high speed performance and power the owner may not notice this at all. In fact, because the engine is sloppy he may assume that it is very peppy. But when he tries to run slowly in high gear the engine will kick up a fuss. It is here that its defects will show up most glaringly.

Incidentally, in a test of old cars and their performance a 20-year-old Rolls won first place for running smoothly at a crawl. It simply had good rings, good cylinder walls and tight seating valves.

more frill. Actually, however, there is proof that cleanliness does help prolong the usefulness of the rubber. You'll see this by the way sidewalls so often break on the car side of the tires, whereas the walls facing the public usually last longer. The only explanation is that the walls that are exposed to view are the ones the motor car owner favors with a bit of dusting and washing. Soap and water are very beneficial to tires. Damage to the unseen tire walls often is due to grease and oil which, unnoticed, are not removed.

BILBO TO FACE TEST OF NEGRO PRIMARY VOTE

By KRIS KREEGER

Jackson, Miss., June 29 (AP)—The state of Mississippi, with a population almost half negro, is moving tensely toward its first major contest at the polls since the U. S. Supreme court ruled unequivocally that negroes could vote in all primaries.

The contest next Tuesday features the effort of Theodore G. Bilbo, outspoken advocate of white supremacy, to obtain his third Democratic nomination to the Senate—the equivalent of election in this one-party state.

Bilbo has defied the federal government to back up the Justice department's announcement that it will enforce the negro's right to vote. He has called upon "all red-blooded Anglo-Saxons" to prevent negro voting, and has offered his "legal services to anyone who gets in trouble."

How Are Registered

Actually the negro can form only a small percentage of perhaps 200,000 ballots expected to be cast Tuesday. Although there are more than a million negroes in Mississippi—49.2 per cent of the population according to the last census—very few have registered.

The total can't be accurately given, as registration in many counties is not announced. The highest estimates, however, have placed negro registration at little more than 5,000 in the entire state.

Only one act of violence has been reported. Eloy Fletcher, war veteran and student at Jackson college for negroes, signed an affidavit charging white men flogged him for attempting to register in Rankin county. For the past several days Fletcher has been absent from the college here and his home in Rankin county.

Intimidation Charged

T. B. Wilson, negro president of the Progressive Voters' league, has asserted, however, that some circuit clerks "by ruse and intimidation are keeping negroes from registering." For example, he said, some clerks are continually "absent" from their offices, and others maintain that the deadline for registration has passed.

Bilbo has urged white citizens to "resort to any means" to prevent negro voting, declaring that "if you let one little handful vote this year, there'll be two handfuls next year and four the year after and soon white supremacy will be gone."

"I don't say go to violence," he admonished in a campaign speech here last night, "but remember the best way to keep the negro from voting is to see him the night before."

It's A Motor Question

Q. When is it ever necessary to use low gear in hill climbing? I realize that low is needed for the start but isn't second satisfactory for the rest of the climb? K. M. L.

A. The best rule is to use the same gear going up a grade as you would need to use going down it. If the hill is steep enough to warrant using low to go down, then use low to climb it.

Q. I notice there are small holes in the brake drums on my car. They are exposed by sliding a small cover disc. Should these be opened up in hot weather to help cool the brakes? V. V. N.

A. These peepholes serve to permit easy checking of shoe clearances and for adjusting the shoes. Your car apparently is one of the older models, for in recent years designers dispensed with this convenience. However, the idea is revived on a 1947 model.

Q. The engine of my car has been stalling when I am running around 35 miles an hour especially on a hot day. Is this vapor lock? I waited a half hour the other day and it started right off. R. G. Jr.

A. When an engine is already to run again after a rest you can be sure that it stalled because of a gas condition, although there are cases where overheated coils gave trouble. Next time the engine stalls you can restart by cranking with throttle wide open. Don't pump on the accelerator. Don't choke.

Q. I am beginning to hear mild explosions in the muffler when going down hill. Is this a sign of need for service on the points? T. H.

A. Yes, but also check for a bad spark plug. It is also possible that the gas mixture is too rich or too lean.

DISMISSAL OF HOTELS PHONE CASE IS ASKED

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP)—The Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania asked the Public Utility Commission today to dismiss the rate complaint of the Pennsylvania Hotels association on the grounds hotels are ineligible to share in toll rates "since they are not public utilities."

The request was made in the complaint of 56 of Pennsylvania's leading hostilities that the Telephone company by changing its contracts for commissions on toll calls by guests had made tariff-making changes without prior approval of the Commission.

The Telephone company paid 20 per cent commissions, with a maximum of 25 cents on any message, on all toll calls from hotels prior to April 15, 1944. On that date, the old contracts were cancelled and a new one offered at a flat 15 per cent commission without a maximum.

Some Reject Contracts

Some hotels accepted but others rejected the new contracts and deducted commissions at the old rate before paying telephone bills. Last April, suits to collect the full amount were filed by the phone company in Philadelphia.

In a brief filed with the Commission, Bell attorneys William H. Lamb and E. Everett Mather, Jr., contended if the hotels are successful in their action before the PUC "they would have manufactured a defense to these suits."

Upheld By High Court

"It is a matter of common knowledge," the brief continued, "that the hotels here involved and many others actually charged their guests for calls they made amounts in excess of those published in the telephone company tariff, and 'the excess or surcharge was retained by

Albert Smith, whose work takes him to many distant parts of the United States, has been visiting his wife and sons at their home.

Mrs. Betty J. Creekmore, who resided here last year while studying voice under Mrs. Mildred Rogers Dunstan, R. 1, and who has undergone two operations for an ear condition since returning last September to her home in West Palm Beach, Fla., is reported much improved.

Sister Paula Mary of the order, formerly Miss Rita Aumen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard P. the hotels in its entirety."

The Bell company asserted "the hotels clung tenaciously to this practice even after the Federal Communications Commission had brought injunction proceedings in several Federal District Courts."

The U. S. Supreme Court finally upheld the Communications Commission and more recently the FCC dismissed a hotels' complaint challenging the Telephone company's stand.

"While these proceedings were pending," the brief stated, the phone company "canceled contracts with the hotels and refused to allow any further commissions unless the hotels agreed to abstain from making any surcharges. Many of the hotels agreed to abstain from making any surcharges, but some refused to pay in full the bills."

The Commission granted the Hotels association until July 5 to file a reply.

"CROSSROADS" COMMANDERS...They'll Lead Atomic Bomb Tests at Bikini

Joint Task Force One Commander, Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, USN, and these top-ranking military men are the leaders of the unit which will make the Atomic Bomb tests in July. These Army and Navy leaders have charge of the 37,000-plus personnel and ships comprising the Task Force. The first actual test is planned for July 1, weather permitting.

↑ COMMANDER of the Task Force is Vice Admiral William H. P. Blandy, USN, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Special Weapons. Vice Admiral Blandy, of Washington, D. C., has served in the Navy from the Vera Cruz Campaign in 1914 through both World Wars. He has served on battleships, cruisers, and destroyers, and in this war as Commander, Amphibious Group One, Pacific Fleet; Commander, Cruisers and Destroyers, Pacific Fleet; and Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance. He has received Gold Stars in lieu of a second and third Distinguished Service Medal for his actions as an amphibious Commander at Peleliu, Anguar, Ulithi, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, and Nansai Shoto.

↑ THE MARSHALL ISLANDS showing Bikini Atoll, and the near islands of the group. Here at Bikini, the "Crossroads" Commanders will direct this first "test" of the Atom-bomb against unmanned ships and shore installations. Approximately 97 ships of all types will be anchored within a two-mile radius of Bikini lagoon, with the battleship Nevada in the very center painted a bright orange to aid the atom-bombardier.

↑ ATOMIC Energy-Harnesser is Major General Leslie R. Groves, USA, who heads the Manhattan Engineer District which will furnish the bomb, much of the testing material, and instruments for the coming Bikini test. Under Maj. Gen. Groves' direction, the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs were produced.

↑ TECHNICAL Director under Admiral Blandy is Dr. Ralph A. Sawyer, a Navy Commander from 1941 to February, 1946. Dr. Sawyer is professor of physics now on leave from the University of Michigan, and was war-time laboratory director at the Naval Ordnance Proving Grounds, Dahlgren, Va.

↑ CHIEF of the Army Air Forces to be used in the tests is Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, USAF. Maj. Gen. Kepner served in this war with infantry, artillery, and airborne units. He commanded the 103rd Infantry Division in France, and was Artillery Commander of the 101st Airborne Division, in the European theater.

↑ TARGET Fleet Skipper is Rear Admiral Frank G. Fahsion, USN, of Raleigh, N. C. Rear Admiral Fahsion, who is Commander of the Naval Groups, has served throughout both World Wars. In the first he served aboard battleships and destroyers. He was Commander of Destroyer Division Three when the second war broke out. During this war, he also served as skipper of the battleship USS North Carolina and Commander of Cruiser Division Four at Okinawa.

↑ "WEAPONER" who made history with the first Atomic bomb is Rear Admiral William S. Parsons, USN, chief assistant to Admiral Blandy in the coming Bikini tests. Rear Admiral Parsons, of Fort Sumner, N. M., was assigned to the Manhattan Engineer District, Santa Fe, N. M., for the Atomic bomb experiments in 1943. He served as associate director of the project and then as officer-in-charge of the overseas technical group. He has served at sea on battleships, destroyers, and cruisers, since he received his commission in 1922.

↑ AIR Operations chief is Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, USAF, who will be Admiral Blandy's assistant for air, with both Army and Navy Air units under his command. Maj. Gen. Kepner, who served in France during the first World War, has served in the European Theater in this war in successive command of the 8th Fighter Command, 8th Air Force, 9th Air Force and 12th Tactical Air Command. Maj. Gen. Kepner holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, Distinguished Service Cross, Purple Heart for Valor, Legion of Merit, French Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear brother, Charles H. Crum, who died one year ago June 30, 1945.

If we had seen you to the last, And heard your dying hands, And heard the last sigh from your heart, We would not feel so bad.

We did not know the pain you had, We did not see you die, We only know that you went far away And never said goodbye.

Sadly missed by his sisters, Mrs. Ethel Kuhn and Mrs. Alverna Eyer.

In loving memory of our dear son, Charles H. Crum.

Sad and sudden was the call, Of one so dearly loved by all, A bitter grief, a shock severe, It was to part with one so dear.

We sit here in the evening, Often we are alone, Wishing, hoping and longing, That our boy could only come home.

We do not forget you, nor do we intend, We think of you often, and will to the end.

No one knows the silent heartaches, Only those who have lost can tell, Of the grief that's borne in silence For the one we loved so well.

Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Crum.

In loving memory of our brother, Charles H. Crum.

Dear brother, one sad and lonely year has passed, Since our great sorrow fell, The shock which we received that night, We still remember well.

We did not know the pain you felt, Nor heard your final sigh, We only know you went away Without a last goodbye.

He had a smile for everyone, A heart as pure as gold, To those who knew and loved him, The memories will never grow old.

Sadly missed by his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Carson.

More and more each day I miss you, Some may think the wound is healed, But little do they know the sorrow That's within my heart concealed.

My lips cannot tell how I miss you, My heart cannot tell me what to say, God alone knows how I miss you In a home that is lonesome today.

Sadly missed by his sister, Mae J. Crum.

FIRST ROYALTY TO BE PAID ON COAL AUGUST 15

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania's anthracite coal operators prepared today to carry out terms of the recently negotiated agreement with the AFL-United Mine Workers which covers 75,000 miners.

More than 200 operators met yesterday at the Anthracite Institute, signing the contract which was ratified by the UMW last Wednesday. Detailed terms of the agreement were outlined by Maj. W. W. Inglis, president of the Glen Alden coal company, and chairman of the operators' wage negotiating committee.

Inglis said the operators will make their first five-cent a ton royalty payment for the UMW's health and welfare fund on August 15, covering the period from June 1 to July 15. The second payment will be made September 15 for the July 15-31 period. Thereafter, payments will be made on the 15th day of each month to cover the preceding month.

Inglis said the royalty payments apply to all producers selling "bituminous" coal, as well as to operators producing run-of-mine coal. In the case of an operator selling run-of-mine coal to another producer, the royalty will be paid by the operator whose breaker prepares the coal.

Producers loading dust coal, produced 10 to 15 years ago, and receiving 60 to 85 cents a ton, must pay the royalty, Inglis said.

New Health Laws
Inglis said that retroactive to June 7—effective date of the new contract—operators must accept the workmen's compensation law and the Pennsylvania occupations disease law of June 21, 1939, as amended May 18, 1945.

Inglis said the industry is awaiting an expression from the OPA over possible adjustments in the price of coal if producers operate their mines only five days a week.

Inglis told the operators the negotiating committee approved an increase from $75 to $100 in the miners' vacation funds in the face of a general strike threat.

JIGGER MORAN
by JOHN ROEBURT
Chapter 16
It was lunch hour at Childs. Jigger slid into a seat at one of the six tables tended by Irene.

Jigger said, "Coffee-and, sweet. Where you been keeping yourself?" Irene looked inquiringly, passing the ball right back.

Jigger tried to look wornout. "I been running myself ragged on this case. The fog hasn't lifted yet." Irene set the coffee in front of Jigger.

"You're going at this case all wrong," Jigger sipped, gurgled. "How would you know?"

"Joe's being framed from the inside. It's as simple as that." Jigger said inquisitively. "How did you arrive at that?"

Irene turned to leave. "It's my womanly intuition. Ring me up to-night."

Jigger wangled his way in to see Joe with a 'hearn verging on an apoplectic fit.

Joe was pettish: "You're not doing so good, Jigger." His hand labored a circle at his cramped surroundings in proof.

Jigger repressed a desire to laugh in Joe's face. "You didn't hire me to create miracles, Joe. The cops didn't tag you as an afterthought. You were slated for the cat thirty hands after the cops saw the condition Herz was in."

"They can't hold me. My lawyer's arguing ball. There's nothing tying me to the killing—no evidence."

"So there's half a handcuff. But how about Birdie, Joe? That's the other half."

"I had nothing to do with Birdie croaking."

"He was one of your boys, Joe. The cops know he's the guy that started the rumor. There's your motive for erasing Birdie—to boot."

Joe spat the words: "Birdie wasn't one of my boys. I gave that rat the bounce months ago. When he was up for peddling reefers."

Jigger studied his fingernails minutely. "Just who are your boys, Joe?"

Joe's eyes darted. "Are you kidding?"

"No. Who are they? I don't keep your personnel records."

"Rocky, Munsey, the Perrotti brothers, Big Joe, Bill Lederer, and a dozen runners—your punk."

"What does Rocky do?"

"He's a controller—like Munsey."

MONDAY, TUESDAY
The problems of modern marriage form the basis of RKO Radio's romantic drama, "From This Day Forward," a story of American life in the present era. Joan Fontaine is starred in the role of a young wife and in the featured role opposite her is a brilliant newcomer, Mark Stevens.

The problems confronting Susan and Bill Cummings are those which might trouble any other young couple, and the story outlines how one couple learns to handle them. Susan and Bill possess patience, courage, and a firm belief that nothing can disturb a true and abiding love.

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, WEDNESDAY MIDNIGHT
"The Blue Dahlia," Paramount's exciting murder-mystery melodrama opens Wednesday at the Majestic theatre and will keep the audience in a state of sustained suspense throughout. This is Raymond Chandler's latest, and best, homicidal thriller and it stars Alan Ladd, Veronica Lake and William Bendix, each at his very best in tailor-made roles. The plot revolves around the murder of Ladd's faithless wife, Doris Dowling, by person or persons unknown until the climax. Ladd, with William Bendix and Hugh Beaumont, had returned home from the war to find his wife involved with Howard da Silva, night club owner. When he learns, too, that her drinking had been responsible for the death of their son, he walks out on her.

In typical Ladd fashion, he meets, charms, and is charmed by Veronica Lake. She, too, is unhappily married, and in their mutual dejection, they find common ground on which to draw closer together.

FRIDAY, SATURDAY
Paulette Goddard who plays opposite Ray Milland in "Kitty."

Paulette Goddard who plays opposite Ray Milland in "Kitty."

Once again Ray Milland and Paulette Goddard share stellar billing in another Paramount film. Both stars appear in "Kitty," Mitchell Leiser's spectacular extravaganza to be featured at the Majestic theatre Friday and Saturday with Patric Knowles, Reginald Owen, Cecil Kellaway, Constance Collier and Dennis Hoyer also included in the cast.

The story of an eighteenth century cockney waif who becomes the toast of English royalty, "Kitty" was adapted from Rosamond Marshall's sensational novel.

Emmitsburg.—The 60th anniversary of the Elias Lutheran Missionary society was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meant, St. Anthony's, Wednesday evening. The meeting opened with scripture reading by Mrs. Albert McCleaf, followed by the reading of the history of the society by Mrs. R. M. Zacharias, historian. Mrs. Phillip Bower, president, presided. As the names were read of living and deceased charter members a candle was lighted by Rev. Phillip Bower for each, which was followed by prayer by Rev. Bower. There were short remarks by the two charter members who were present, Mrs. C. C. Riffle and Mrs. Charles Lander. Rev. Bower also gave a short talk on progress made by the society.

Mrs. Charles Corbett, president of Middle Conference of the Women's Missionary Society of United Lutheran Church of America, was the guest speaker for the occasion. Mrs. Roy Bollinger, treasurer, gave the report for the year which showed much progress over preceding years.

A large anniversary cake, decorated with the number "60," with lighted candles, furnished the refreshments. Ice cream and punch were also served. Twenty-one members and guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morganthau, of Washington, D. C., were recent guests of Miss Anna Gillelan, West Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ashbaugh, Mrs. Lester Wastler, and Mrs. Ruth Hottinger, spent Sunday in Washington with Mrs. Hottinger's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Harner. Mrs. Hottinger remained in Washington for a visit of several weeks.

KEEPING FAITH WITH AN AMERICAN TRADITION

Mass Production and Lowered Prices...

More Sales to More People...

That's the record of American business!

Under efficient business management by privately owned companies the system has worked well and become the American tradition!

The Electrical Industry has kept faith with this American Tradition. Thomas A. Edison started things with the invention of the electric light 67 years ago. Electric rates then were high. Scientists and engineers found new tasks for electricity in homes, stores, farms, factories and in industry. The electric industry had faith in the future of America. Rates were lowered. And electricity was produced in ever increasing amounts to meet the rapidly developing demands for electric service. More sales . . . to more people . . . at lower prices!

Today prices of most things have risen and are continuing to rise. Holding fast to the traditional practice of America's privately owned, business managed industry, Metropolitan Edison Company is expanding for still greater production of electric energy. With full confidence in the future and that there will be a greater than ever demand for electricity we have announced . . .

LOWER ELECTRIC RATES

That Will Save Our Customers

More Than $1,000,000.00 Annually

The new, lower rates, are effective on meter readings made after June 30, 1946. Plan now to make more complete use of electricity. Treat yourself to the thrill, satisfaction and economy of . . .
